Providing Cool

Fun. Flirty. Fabulous. These words describe the highly edited collection of accessories at Provide – a welcomed addition to the boutique store scene in Vancouver.

“Provide is a destination that offers the work of artists and designers working in ceramics, glass, wood, metal and textiles, as well as quality, contemporary design from smaller manufacturers from around the world,” says Robert Quinnell, co-owner of Provide.

Located in the emerging neighbourhood of Crosstown, Provide offers Rina Menardi (exclusive to Provide) and KleinReid ceramics; Caleb Siemon and John Pomp glasswork; Heath Ceramics tableware; and other lines include Alessi, Martha Sturdy, Nespresso and Niche Modern.

Owners Robert Quinnell and David Keeler describe their business approach as “relaxed luxury” and want to fill a gap in Vancouver’s design and interiors scene by providing a great shopping experience with functional pieces that homeowners can’t live without.
